CO-OPERATION

Cooperate—don't just talk about cooperating. Get started on something. This is the big message The Progressive Farmer would like to send to every reader this week, and especially to the members of every Farmers' union or other farmers' club. Link yourself up with the neighbors. Have a real neighborhood, a real community.

Brotherhood, fellowship, comradeship, overflowing neighborliness—that's what your whole neighborhood is hungry for. If the people only realized it, but this neighborliness must be something more than a benevolent sentiment lying idle in the hearts of the folk. It must be put to work. It must do things. And that is what cooperation is—neighborliness at work, brotherhood at work.

LOGIST WARNS OF PINK BOOL WORM

Farmers Urged to Watch Closely for Signs of Pest More Dangerous Than Boll Weevil. CLEMSON COLLEGE, Nov. 11.—State Entomologist A. F. Conrad, of Clemson College urges cotton farmers to be awake to the dangers of the pink boll worm of cotton and to learn enough about this pest to detect it the instant it appears in a field in South Carolina, if it should appear.

FRETWELL SAYS PLANT WHEAT

Flour is Going to be Higher Next Year. To the Farmers of Anderson County. I have been thinking for some time of writing a letter on farming, but so much has been said, and so little done, that I thought it useless to say more on that subject, but after further consideration, I have decided to risk being imprudent, and tell these hard headed farmers my idea of what we should do under present conditions.

WINTER DEMONSTRATION IN HOME ECONOMICS FOR FARM WOMEN OF THE SOUTH.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The county women agents who during the summer have been teaching Southern girls to can their garden products and tend poultry will continue during the winter to make other practical demonstrations in home economics for such farm women as desire them, if the plans materialize which the U. S. Department of Agriculture hopes to carry out in cooperation with the State colleges. These ladies will have the club members grow winter gardens. It is also proposed to have capable county agents make demonstrations in such lines as the following: Utilizing canned goods in cooking, bread making, use of fireless cookers, preparation of vegetables from winter gardens, home step and labor saving devices, and similar subjects.

MARKET REPORT

Financial (By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—An important development toward the resumption of regular operations in the leading financial markets of the world was recorded today, when sterling exchange fell to normal rates. Cables on London were quoted at 4.87 3/4 and sight drafts at 4.87. There were heavy offerings of bills, but buyers were scarce.

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE DISCUSSES MEAT SHORTAGE

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 11.—Addressing an audience composed of stockraisers from practically every state in the Union, at the National Dairy Show convention here recently, Secretary Houston of the United States Department of Agriculture declared the short meat supply to be one of the most serious problems confronting the American agriculturist. Mr. Houston approved the plan of cattle raising on large ranches and declared that no effort would be spared by the Federal government in further increasing production from this source but insisted that the proper solution of this problem depended on an increased interest in live-stock raising by farmers and in more systematic control and eradication of hog cholera, cattle tick and tuberculosis.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Although peace rumors led to a fresh break today in the price of wheat, the effect was not of a lasting sort, as European buying soon rallied the market. Closing quotations were steady at 1-2 to 5-8 above last night. Corn made a gain of 1-2 to 5-8 net and oats of 5-8@3-4 to 3-4@7-8. In provisions the outcome varied from unchanged figures to a rise of 17-1-2.

Keep the Weevils Out of Your Corn. Now is the time of all times to cut out all waste and put into practice every possible economy measure. One of these that demands immediate attention is to prevent the destruction of our stored grain, particularly corn, by weevils. Undoubtedly we suffer annual losses from this pest that in the aggregate amount to millions of dollars. This loss may very largely be prevented by using carbon bisulphide, which may be obtained at drug stores.

A FACTORY ON THE FARM. Silo is a factory on the farm and therefore lends itself to co-operation of the commercial and agricultural interests. The farmer gets the profit of both producer and consumer. We need more of these agencies of prosperity on the farms of South Carolina and business men cannot render a better service to their communities than in encouraging the building of silos. The silo is a great business educator. It arouses the spirit of enterprise, develops business acumen and awakens the joy of ownership.

NEW YORK COTTON. NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—There was nearly a full normal attendance on the floor of the cotton exchange today, with members all waiting for an official announcement with reference to the reopening. There seemed to be no change of sentiment as to the probability of beginning business next week and an increasing demand was reported for an exchange membership, which was quoted at $5.00 bid. The removal of the restriction on new selling down to 4.55 in Liverpool was followed by a decline of 6-1-2 points there today, which carried the price off to within 1-2 point of the fixed minimum, and it was reported that selling ledgers against spots in the southwest had been partly responsible for the break.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON. NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12.—Prices fell off slightly in the cotton market today, January traded in during the afternoon at 7.50, while spots were marked down one sixteenth to 7 5/8 for middling. Sales of January contracts were 17 points under the high level of Monday. Considerable comment was caused by the sale of 5,200 bales of spots at Memphis on the basis of seven cents for middling. It is generally considered that Memphis cotton has more staple to it than the cotton traded in regular spot markets and it was estimated the premium now quoted over the Memphis market. Spot cotton quiet; quotations revised. Sales on spot 780 bales; to arrive 1,050.

LIVERPOOL COTTON. LIVERPOOL, Nov. 12.—Cotton, spot, quiet; American spot 5.87; good middling 4.90; middling 4.58; low middling 3.97; good ordinary 3.25; ordinary 2.5. Sales 10,000 bales, including 7,500 American and 2,500 for speculation and export. Receipts 5,311 bales, including 4,212 American.
